Mr. Hendricks
Troop Committee
Chair

He was a boy scout for only 1 year as a kid.

He started as an adult leader in 1984 and has been one ever since.

Both of his sons are Eagle Scouts (one in 1989 and the other in 1991).

He was awarded the Silver Beaver and is in OA.

He has a shelter named in his honor in Camp K.

His favorite time of the year is summer camp.

He works with the Fire Department.

His favorite food is Fried Chicken.

We are all LUCKY to know Mr. Hendricks.

The Shark Patrol

The Shark Patrol includes Sam, Jared, Craig, Isaac, George, and Brett. The Shark Patrol is the newest patrol in the troop. The Shark Patrol's Advisors are Dan and Derek. The Patrol Leader is Craig, the Assistant Patrol Leader is Jared, and the Quartermaster is Sam. They all are Scout rank and are working on Tenderfoot. They are all in 5th grade. It is fair to say that they have been waiting for a longtime to crossover from Cub Scouts and become Boy Scouts. Their first campout was the Early Ranks Campout where they learned many things that they will use during campouts with the troop.

"In Scouting, a boy is encouraged to educate himself instead of being instructed."

Sir Robert Baden-Powell

Early Ranks Campout

The Early Ranks Campout was held at Camp K. The campout was led by the older scouts with a focus on the new scouts. The campout included training on skills needed for camping with the troop. The new scouts also had classes related to various requirements for all of early ranks.

The older scouts taught the new scouts the different skills.

They learned about the flag, first aid, poisonous plants, cooking and cleaning, knots, and some physical fitness. TJ and Mr. Goodwin instructed the new scouts on the proper way to cleanup after cooking. We all slept in cabins (traditionally the only time) that had bunk beds.

The new scouts helped with cooking. For Dinner, the troop had spaghetti and meat sauce, salad, garlic bread (very popular), and Cherry and Apple Cobbler for dessert. Then, in the morning, Mountain man (cheese, hash browns, eggs, and other stuff in it) was prepared by the Sharks.

The campout ended with Scout's own and policing the area. Everyone was home by noon. A great time was had by all.
